CQ CALL

In this incredible world of person to person communication, neither time nor space has any significance. A radio amateur's "CQ", or call of inquiry, may well be heard simultaneously by fellow amateurs in London, Rio, and Tokyo--all of whom may answer. And, surprising as it may seem, "DX", or distance, can be worked with regularity using relatively inexpensive equipment.

The purpose of the Milwaukee School of Engineering Amateur Radio Club is to establish an association of students with mutual interest and fraternal good will among those interested in amateur radio and provide facilities for members to obtain licenses.

W9HHX is open to club members 24 hours a day, and has some of the finest equipment available which is capable of communicating on a world-wide basis.

The club also participates in local, national and international contests. It has participated in DX competition, US Sweepstakes, Field Day and the 3rd Annual World Wide RTTY Contest, in which it placed 8th in the world.

Our Office

The newspaper office is located in the "C" building just over the radio shack which is off the hallway leading to the "A" building from the book store.

VA EXPLAIN GI BILL

The nation's 1,200 university and college newspapers, magazines and other publications have been asked to join the Veterans Administration in a saturation campaign to acquaint every veteran student with all details of the payment procedures of the new G.I. Bill's education program.

The VA cautions that the veteran going to school should be prepared to pay his expenses for at least two months.

The law requires that monthly certificates of attendance signed by veterans be sent to the VA attesting the veteran has attended classes. Necessarily these certificates can be sent only after a month's schooling is completed. On the 20th of the following month, VA mails the payment checks. Proper and prompt sending of these certificates will eliminate delays.
